Here’s How “Green Company” Alchemia-Nova Used Gina’s Talents!

Gina Citoli traveled to Vienna to give a live performance of three of her songs for the premier of the movie “Mysterious Disappearance—Bioplastics Win The Future.” This 30 minute DVD documentary film was produced by Alchemia-Nova a research institute for innovative Phyto Chemistry that is rediscovering the evolutive power of plants and the biosphere.

Gina’s songs, “The Alchemist” and “Mental Ecology” open the documentary that educates the public on biotechnology, green chemistry and sustainability. “Natural Order of Things” is a musical compliment to the credits in this DVD about the dramatic effects of “peak oil” and the outrageous quantities of petrochemical plastic waste in the oceans. But Gina’s music and Alchemia-Nova show us a way out of this mess. This movie gives us a thorough understanding of how innovative high-tech bio plastics modeled on nature using sun, water and corn, sugar beet, potatoes and other renewable resources are the answer.
